

I feel strongly that satellite radio is a competitive technology that should not be challenged legally, but rather through competition. I use the traffic and weather some but not often (but often enough to be important and useful), and I would be embarrassed to live in a country where this local service was "banned" ...

Please be smart and dont limit what services I choose to pay for myself.